I. Introduction

Introduction

This is my eleventh quarterly report since my appointment as Monitor.

My last quarterly report was issued on the same day that the Magistrate Judge assigned to the SEC civil action in which I was appointed to serve as Monitor filed a Report and Recommendation (the “Report”) on the SEC’s motion to convert the Monitorship to a Receivership. The Report contained a thorough discussion of the relevant legal issues and recommended that the District Judge overseeing the SEC case should grant the SEC’s application for conversion of the Monitorship to a Receivership and impose the litigation injunction requested by the SEC. Following the issuance of the Report, two of the defendants in the criminal and SEC cases, David Gentile and Jeffry Schneider, filed objections to the Report with the District Judge. The SEC and GPB then filed separate responses to those objections, in which they strongly urged the District Judge to reject the objections and accept the recommendations contained in the Report. The District Judge has not yet ruled on the objections to the Report, and as a result, a Receiver has not been appointed for GPB and the GPB funds.

As I initially stated when I first learned of the Report three months ago, the Magistrate Judge’s recommendation that a Receiver be appointed remains a very good development for all investors hoping to receive distributions from the GPB funds that hold cash available for distribution. If a Receiver is appointed, the process will be in place for the funds held by GPB to finally be returned to their rightful owners – the investors. As I have repeatedly written, I am prepared to move forward expeditiously with a distribution plan in the event that the District Judge accepts the recommendations in the Report and appoints me as Receiver. As Receiver, my two top priorities will be returning funds to investors and maximizing distributable proceeds for investors.

To date, GPB has generated in excess of $1 billion in gross proceeds from the sale of assets, and management is actively marketing the remaining assets. The available funds that GPB has raised from these sales continue to be invested in conservative vehicles that are generating a reasonable return, with over $40 million in interest earned through September 2023.

As with my prior reports, because much of our ongoing work is sensitive and involves litigation and efforts to maximize the value of investments, I have redacted certain sections of this report to maintain confidentiality.

Background (Continued)

Overview of recent developments between GPB, David Gentile and the SEC:

1. Violation of court order and notice to GPB:

- a. On May 29, 2022, I was informed through Mayer Brown LLP, counsel to GPB Capital Holdings, that David Gentile had documents delivered to the Company reflecting that Mr. Gentile had purported to take actions, as of May 27, 2022, (i) expanding the number of Managers of the Company from one to four and appointing each of Rick Murphy, Michael Fasano and Matt Judkin as Managers, and (ii) amending the limited liability company agreement of the Company to, among other things, provide for new compensation arrangements with respect to non-employee Managers ((i) and (ii) collectively, the “May 27, 2022 Purported Actions”).
- b. On May 31, 2022, I provided formal notice to GPB in my capacity as Monitor under the Amended Order, that the May 27, 2022 Purported Actions, among other things, violate Sections 6(d) and 6(e) of the Amended Order (the “Material Non-Compliance”). In accordance therewith, I further provided the Company notice that the Company had ten (10) business days in which to cure the Material Non-Compliance, and if such cure did not occur within such period, the remedies described in Section 21 of the Amended Order may be invoked with immediate effect.

2. On June 13, 2022, the SEC requested the conversion of the Monitorship to a receivership:

- a. Section 21 of the Amended Order outlines the remedies for the SEC in the event of GPB’s non-compliance with the Amended Order: “If GPB does not comply with the above provisions and does not make requested changes within the Cure Period, upon motion of the SEC resulting in a Court Order, the Monitorship shall convert to a receivership. GPB shall be afforded an opportunity to oppose any such application by the SEC before conversion to a receivership.”
- b. On June 13, 2022, the SEC filed a motion to request the conversion of the Monitorship to a receivership as a result of continuing violations of the Order, following the above-referenced notice provided by me in my capacity as Monitor under the Amended Order, and pursuant to the remedies provided for in Section 21 of the Amended Order.

2. On June 13, 2022, the SEC requested the conversion of the Monitorship to a receivership:

 - d. Concurrent with the SEC's motion on June 13, 2022, and subsequently on July 8, 2022, I provided written declarations in support of the SEC's motion for appointment of a receiver over GPB Capital Holdings LLC and its affiliates.
3. On April 28, 2023, the Magistrate Judge assigned to the SEC enforcement action issued an order permitting the parties to submit fact-based updates related to the SEC's Receivership motion, as well as a motion to amend the Monitor order. On May 8, 2023, pursuant to the Court's order, the various parties to the SEC action submitted letters to the Court.
 4. On July 28, 2023, the Magistrate Judge ruled in favor of the SEC's motion to convert the Monitorship to a Receivership and for the imposition of a litigation injunction. The Report and Recommendation of the Magistrate Judge is not final, pending the District Judge's decision whether to accept the Report and Recommendation in light of any objections that might be filed as to the Report and Recommendation.
 5. On September 8, 2023, David Gentile and Jeffry Schneider, who are defendants in the pending criminal and SEC cases, filed objections to the Report and Recommendation with the District Judge overseeing the SEC case. (c) Oversight of General Partner Management

General Partner Measures

The GPB decision-making process has been formalized by the Monitor via an RFA (request for approval) process. The Monitor has worked with GPB on 372 RFAs across the various types of transactions which require approval pursuant to the Monitor Order. Other Monitor responsibilities have included:

- Advise management and continue to evaluate various options with respect to driving significant cost savings ($23M reduction in operating costs since December 2021) primarily due to ongoing Reduction in Force implementation and reduction in professional fees.
- The above reduction in operating costs and fees was partially offset by increased legal fees due to the legal fee advancement obligations of ongoing criminal and civil litigations of GPB Capital Holdings in the amount of $15M for the first nine months of 2023. Cumulatively, legal fees paid due to the advancement obligations have totaled $37M.
- Due to continued efforts to reduce costs and overhead, 2022 management fees charged and paid by all GBP funds were approximately $9.2M less than the management fees allowed under the partnership agreements.

Summary of Fees to Date

Below is a summary of fees invoiced by the Monitor and his financial advisors through September 30, 2023:

	2021	2022	Q1 2023	Q2 2023	Q3 2023

Since the appointment of the Monitor, total legal fees incurred by the Monitor and not included above total approximately $6.0 million.

Monitor Fees in comparison to GPB LP Interest Income:

- As approved by the Monitor, GPB currently invests available cash from portfolio company sales in US Treasury Securities, as a means to generate LP returns in a risk-free manner until distributions to investors can be made.
- During 2022 and the first nine months of 2023, the interest earned on invested cash totaled approximately $40.7 million.
- Due to the higher interest rate environment, interest earned in the current quarter is expected to be approximately $3.8 million per month.
- Notwithstanding the foregoing, it remains the Monitor's top priority to achieve distribution of available proceeds to investors as soon as possible.
